ALLEGES LIFE IS IN DANGER

Prosecutor of Legislative Grafters Issues Statement.

TELLS OF DYNAMITING PLOT

Edmund Burke of Springfield, Ill., Declares He and His Assistant Are Murderously Threatened—Thinks Body Guard Necessary.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 27.—Edmund Burke, state's attorney for Sangamon county, who prosecuted the legislature graft cases, has given out a statement in which he declared that the grafters and crooks of Springfield are seeking his life and the life of his assistant, E. W. S. Galeener.

Burke declares that one attempt was made to blow up his house with dynamite bombs and that since Sept. 13 a heavy guard from the sheriff's office has been thrown around his home, and that guards constantly protect him and Mr. Galeener from the conspirators.

The attempt to blow up Mr. Burke's house, he said, was set for the night of Sept. 13 and was frustrated only by the fact that one of the conspirators "got cold feet" and warned the sheriff's office by telephone. The sheriff rushed deputies to Mr. Burke's home and the plotters fled.

In the statement the prosecutor declares that the names of the men in the plot are known to him and the sheriff and that arrests will be made soon. He charges that four men against whom he has waged prosecution for arson recently are leaders in the conspiracy, and believes others whose hatred he incurred in his vigorous prosecution of legislative graft also are implicated.

Burke says that neither he nor Mr. Galeener ever goes upon the street without a strong bodyguard.

On the night of the attempt to dynamite his home there was a severe storm, and it was the plan of the plotters, so he says, to gain entrance to his home under cover of the darkness, due to the fact that all of the electric lights of the section were out of service.

GOV. DIX TAKES A HAND

DENOUNCES POLITICAL METHODS AND REMOVES BURROUGH PRESIDENT FROM OFFICE.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 26.—Gov. Dix removed from office Thursday Borough President Lawrence Gresser of Queens borough, New York city, against whom charges have been pending for a long time. In his memorandum Gov. Dix says:

"I find from the report and from the evidence that corruption and incompetence were general in the departments of Queens borough from April 30, 1908, down to and including the first six months of 1910. It appears that political contributions were regularly assessed; that employes were removed from office for political reasons; that the construction of sewers has been unreasonably delayed; that the highways have been neglected or improperly repaired; that frauds were committed in the construction of culverts, in padding payrolls, in the petty cash funds and the sewer department; that apparently a large proportion of the subordinates of the borough president were corrupt and inefficient.

"The existance of such conditions is not compatible with the existence of reasonable competency and efficiency in the borough president, or with the view that he has actively exercised his duties. I therefore approve the conclusion of the commissioner that Mr. Gresser has been indeed neglectful of his duty to protect the city and the borough of Queens against fraud and corruption on the part of his subordinates."

CARRIED IN AUTO BY CAR

Electrician Fatally Hurt When Train Hits Runabout.

Alma, Mich., Sept. 27.—While attempting to cross the Ann Arbor railway tracks, about 200 yards from the passenger depot, in his runabout, Edward Clow, a St. Louis electrician, was struck by an Ann Arbor motor car. The machine with Clow pinned tightly within it, was carried 150 feet across the big railway bridge which spans Pine river and totally demolished.

Clow was extracted from the debris in a terribly maimed condition. He was rushed to Brainerd hospital where attending physicians gave aid. No hope for his recovery is given. Clow is thirty-five years old and has a wife and two children.

CHINESE STUDENTS LEAD FOREIGNERS IN NUMBER AT U. OF M.

Ann Arbor, Sept. 27.—China will lead all foreign nations in the number of students represented at the university this year, having more students here than even Canada with her 29, the leading country heretofore, for China this year will have 54 students at Michigan. There are 50 here now and sometime during the week four maids will come, the Misses Lein, Chow, Soven and Soon. The last named Chinese girl is a sister of Mary Stone, the Chinese girl educated in the medical department here about ten years ago. This Miss Stone's Americanized name is Phoebe Stone.

Mr. and Mrs. Kao, pronounced "Cow," have taken a house on East University avenue, right elbow to elbow with the exclusive faculty circle. Mr. Kao is a student here and Mrs. Kao will take some special work in the literary department. There has been a considerable curiosity over how the Kaos will live, and no little disappointment shown when it became known that their dainty chop sticks were left in China, and that some bright new silver knives and forks have been bought of a local jeweler, and that the family will sit on American chairs, instead of cross-legged on the floor and will sleep in American beds.

There is a grain of comfort left for the curious, however, in the fact that no matter how they eat their food, it will be cooked in approved Chinese style and that rice will form the principal dish on their table.

The Kaos are already enough Americanized to rent rooms to students, an Ann Arbor trick which is soon learned by outsiders who come here.

TWO PROMINENT ANN ARBOR GIRLS WED FORMER UNIVERSITY STUDENTS

Ann Arbor, Sept. 27.—Two Ann Arbor young ladies were married Tuesday to former U. of M. students, who will take their brides to homes out of the city and state. Last evening, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary McClure, Miss Roxie McClure, a prominent society belle, was married to Shirley Snow of Chicago. The bride's gown was white satin, elaborately trimmed with Spanish lace. She was attended by her sister, Myrtle, and Malcolm Macharg, Chicago, was groomsman. Dr. Leslie French of the Presbyterian church officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Snow will reside in Austin, Ill.

Tuesday morning Bishop Kelly officiated at the marriage of Miss Loretta Tice of this city and Edmund Willis of South Bend, Ind. The bride wore a blue tailored gown. Mr. and Mrs. Willis left at once for their home in South Bend.

RUN DOWN BY SPEEDERS, BADLY INJURED

A man giving his name as Fletcher and claiming to be an employee of the D., J. & C. Ry. was found lying in the road unconscious near the Congress street bridge Tuesday evening about seven o'clock by Charles Millspaugh who immediately took him into the garage near by and summoned medical assistance. It was found that his injuries were serious and he was accordingly taken on a D., J. & C. line car to the Homeopathic hospital at Ann Arbor.

The man claimed that he was struck by a large red touring car as he was attempting to cross the street near the bridge. He said the driver of the machine never stopped to see how badly he was injured but proceeded on his way at a rapid pace. The number was not secured and the only description secured was that it was a large red car.

Fletcher claimed that he had been working for the D., J. and C. Ry. for about two weeks and that his home was in Jackson.

In his pocket he carried a letter signed by Edward Ives, a D. U. R. official of Detroit, purporting that he was an employee of the D., J. & C. Ry. It was on the strength of this letter that he was given transportation to this city. This letter, however, is said by the D. U. R. officials here to be a fake. They hold that the man was not an employee of the company and that the letter was merely a forgery for transportation purposes.

KALAMAZOO MAN PUTS ONE OVER ON AUTHORS OF HUCKSTER ORDINANCE

Battle Creek, Mich., Sept. 27.—Battle Creek's iron clad anti-huckster ordinance, pride of local aldermen, has been evaded and by a Kalamazoo man. Robert Fry, finding that he could not legally sell celery on the streets, located a main street block in which the second floor has been untenanted for years.

Securing the rental of this at a nominal fee, Fry established a "store" in the hallway. When policemen came to eject him he showed them that he was a "tenant" of the empty rooms upstairs and all the city's legal forces couldn't move him.

STORM HIT HARD NEAR YPSILANTI

Considerable damage was done by the heavy rain and electric storm which visited this vicinity between four and five o'clock this morning.

A barn containing between six and eight tons of hay on the Watson Barr farm at Stony Creek was struck by lightning and burned to the ground before sufficient help could be secured to quench the flames. There is a possibility that some of the cattle may have been killed as not all have been located since the storm. Some harness and farm tools were also destroyed.

A shed on the farm of Frank Begole, who resides about three miles west of the city on the Saline road, was struck at the same time and was burned. A hog pen near by was also struck and a peculiar feature of the affair was that the pen where the hogs were was strewn in splinters but not an animal was injured. The shed which was burned was filled with straw and it was only the prompt assistance of the kind neighbors and friends that saved the adjoining barns. Not only the men but the women also joined in the bucket brigade and saved the other property.

SPECIAL MEETING OF REPUBLICAN CENTRAL COMMITTEE IS CALLED

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 27.—State Chairman Frank Knox today issued a call for a special meeting of the Republican state central committee to be held in Grand Rapids October 5.

The purpose of the meeting, according to Chairman Knox, is to give the committee an opportunity to go over the work done along organization lines since the close of the 1910 campaign, and to plan for the presidential campaign of 1912. He strongly favors the committee undertaking the organization of Republican clubs in each of the counties of the state and the holding of a banquet during the approaching winter season.

The plan will be outlined to the committee and its adoption urged. Mr. Knox has assurances from both United States senators and the ten Republican congressmen in carrying out this proposal. If the plan is adopted the committee headquarters will serve as a speakers' bureau to assist local committee in securing spellbinders for the banquet circuit.

BRAVE MAN LOSES LIFE

Jackson Brakeman Jumps in Front of Passenger Train.

Hastings, Mich., Sept. 27.—Jumping from the pilot of a freight locomotive, Stephen Van Arman, of Jackson, Michigan Central brakeman, was struck by a passenger train and hurled forty feet in the freight yards and will die. The passenger train stopped and brought him to the station where Dr. Lowrey discovered that the man's back, hip and arm were broken and his skull fractured.

Several days ago while Van Arman was on a freight train near the station, he saw a drunken man fall under a passenger train slowly moving away. Leaping from the top of a box car he seized the man by the heels and dragged him out just in time to save his life.

MICHIGAN SUGAR FACTORIES KEEP PRICES DOWN

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 26.—If it were not for the sugar beet factories in Michigan foreign countries would force the price up to 10 or 12 cents a pound, or maybe even more, instead of 9 cents as at present," says George L. Walt, manager of the Lansing factory of the Owosso Sugar Co.

"The present high prices will continue until the middle of January at least, and possibly even longer than that.

"At present the situation in this state is as follows—and I include all of the beet factories in Michigan: One-third of the crop has been sold for $5.55. One-half has been contracted for at $6.40. There is no way of telling what the remaining one-sixth will bring. Last year all Michigan sugar brought $4.40 a hundred pounds.

"There are 11,000 acres of beets contracted for the campaign which will soon open, which means approximately 1,000,000 tons in the state. Out of a ton of beets, under the most favorable conditions, and with the sugar testing well, the sugar factories produce on an average 240 pounds of refined sugar. Sometimes, however, this goes as low as 220 pounds. But figuring on a basis of 240 pounds there will be produced approximately 264,000,000 pounds in Michigan.

SALVAGE CORPS WORKS ON SHIP

Cause of Disaster on Liberte Still Undetermined.

PURSER KERFORRE'S STORY

Delayed Fire Drill Ineffective Because Apparatus Was Damaged by Explosion—Magazine Probably Not Flooded at All.

Toulon, Sept. 27.—It is reported that five men are still alive aboard the wreck of the battleship Liberte. One sailor on a turret said that he was alone with fifteen corpses.

Paris, Sept. 27.—A new version of the Liberte disaster attributes the cause to a fire which originated in the paint and oil shop aboard the battleship and thence spread to the powder magazines, which the crew were unable to flood in time, owing to the defective working of the flooding apparatus which, howeevr, was in working order ten minutes before.

The inquest which is being held is trying to establish whether fire caused the explosion or spontaneous deflagration of "b" powder caused the fire which spread."

A story told by Cavaro de Kerforre, who was purser of the Liberte, confirms the theory of deflagration. He was asleep in his cabin and was awakened by a rumbling sound twenty minutes before the final explosion. He dressed hurriedly and left his cabin. The passageway was thick with smoke characteristic of "b" powder, and thinkng that the ship had been abandoned he returned to his cabin and jumped overboard through a port, as the smoke was too thick for him to go through the passageway. As he was swimming away he heard the first bugle call and swam back to the vessel, taking charge of his division of the fire fighters until the final explosion threw him overboard. He received a wound and when this was dressed, he returned to the wreck of the Liberte to help save the wounded.

The body of a sailor horribly mangled was found near the after turret. He had evidently died during the night.

The harbor salvage corps worked all night by the aid of electric light, cutting away the armor plate with an acetylene boring apparatus. Under the armor plate they found ten bodies. A rumor, which is confirmed by the engineer of the salvage crew, has it that the Liberte was blown up forward, the forward deck being bent 180 degrees backward over the after part of the ship.

The special correspondent of the Presse telegraphs that investigation reveals that the order calling for fire drill was not given after the first explosion, when only the men on watch were awake. The watch awoke Lieutenant Dignon, who then gave the order for the fire drill. Many of the sailors had already jumped overboard, but the remainder obeyed. The drill, however was ineffective because the explosion had damaged the fire fighting apparatus. The men tried to work the mechanism that flooded the magazines which required seventeen turns of the key shaft, but it did not turn easily and there was great delay, and it is believed that the sailors were never able to open the sea cocks.

The Liberte is now a mass of twisted iron, upon which 200 sailors are at work cutting away the armor plate. There is a huge floating derrick alongside, hoisting the pieces as they are cut away. The bridge of the ship is still in place and from the bridge the officers direct the work of salvage.

204 DEAD ON LIBERTE

Number Includes Missing in French Warship Disaster.

Toulon, Sept. 29.—The minister of marine announced at Paris that 204 men had been killed by the Liberte disaster, or were missing, 136 were wounded and forty-eight slightly injured.

After the first explosion on the Liberte Dr. Cristau, the physician of the Verite, was ordered to go to the Liberte. As he set his foot on the deck at the stern the final explosion occurred. The doctor's hair and beard were burned and his clothes torn off. He was picked up and is again attending to the wounded. A few days ago he was the doctor aboard the cruiser Gloire when a gun burst on that vesel.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1911

LET IT BE ADOPTED FREELY HERE.

We commend heartily the constructive service indicated by the following article from the Michigan Dairy Farmer. Its adoption generally by the farmers in this fine agricultural section would add hundreds of thousands of dollars to the value of the live stock output in the next five years, and much to conserve the fertility of our soils:

"Dean Shaw of Michigan Agricultural College, believing that some form of cooperation in the ownership and use of pedigreed sires could be made satisfactory to the members of such an association, submitted a recommendation to the State Board of Agriculture in December, 1907, urging the necessity for immediate action on the part of the college toward the development of cooperative organizations among the breeders and farmers of the state, designed to stimulate live stock improvement. This recommendation was accepted, adopted and the Agriculture Department authorized to undertake the work. In the organization of breeders' associations in Michigan five chief aims are sought:

1. The improvement of the farmer himself, not only as a raiser of stock, but as a tiller of the soil, a business man, a citizen and a man.

2. The improvement of the flocks and herds of the state in the productivity and uniformity. Productive ability is being increased by the continued use of prepotent purebred sires. By adopting a single breed for an entire locality, buyers are attracted and a local market created.

3. The principal and spirit of cooperation is fostered by cooperating in the purchase and use of breeding stock, the farmer learns to act in unison with his fellows and is able upon occasion, to extend the same principle into other fields.

4. The farmer is trained in business organization and conduct. Rural communities are conservative, even to a fault, and agriculture is seriously crippled by the lack of business methods and business system.

5. The improvement of the grade of livestock renders possible the further increase of capital upon a given area, and is one more factor in increasing the possible profits from the farm. Thus far in Michigan, with two exceptions, the work has been confined to cattle and the first steps were taken among the dairymen, as it was possible to reach this class easiest through the creamery, condensary and cheese factory organizations and patron lists. The attention of the stockman and farmer was directed to the plan through the cooperation of the state press and the field agent has been working in those districts only, in which his services were requested by the people. Before taking up the work in person in a given field copies of the following introductory letter were sent to the patrons of the creamery, condensary, cheese factory or stockmen and farmers of the locality, viz:—

"Dear Sir—

"The Agricultural Department of the Michigan Agricultural College has been authorized by the State Board of Agriculture to undertake special work in this state, endeavoring to stimulate the improvement of horses, cattle, sheep and swine. The proposed plan embodies a vigorous effort to induce farmers and stockmen to procure and use pedigreed sires rather than grades and scrubs. This plan is not only to advocate the individual ownership of good sires, as far as possible, but also to promote the establishment of associations for the joint ownership of males. It will be the duty of the field agent in charge to present a practical method of live stock improvement to individuals and gatherings of farmers and breeders. As far as possible he will furnish information relative to the description, characteristics and adaptability of the various breeds. He will also lend assistance personally in the organization of associations for the joint ownership of sires and the promotion of improved breeding. Through the agency of the State Live Stock Breeders' associations, lists of breeders with purebred bulls for sale can also be furnished. If you are personally interested in livestock improvement and are willing to assist in interesting the people of your community, the services of the field agent can be secured without cost to you or the people you may succeed in interesting. Details of work will be given on request.

"Yours very truly,
"Field Agent in Charge."

When requests are received, the field agent calls upon the individual stock owner, looks over his animals, presents the cooperative plan of breeding to each man personally and secures data relative to the following direct questions, viz: (1) How many cows do you own? (2) What breed or combination of breeds are they? (3) What were they bred to last year? (4) If you were to conclude to breed them to purebred sires continuously, which breed would you prefer? Where the owners of eighty or more cows have signified a preference for some one breed the field agent then endeavors to induce the owners of forty or more cows to adopt the same breed, thus securing sufficient for an association of three groups. The individuals are then invited to meet at some suitable place to discuss the proposition from every view point.

When the owners of one hundred and twenty common cows decide upon some particular breed from which to select males for improvement, then an association may be formed. This particular form of organization containing one hundred and twenty cows is divided into three groups of forty cows each, with one bull for each group. There may be from two or three to seven or eight men in each group, depending upon the size of the herds, or there may be more groups in the association depending upon the willingness of the people of the community.

Each member joining an association is required to sign the following agreement, viz:—

"We the undersigned, desiring to organize a bull association do hereby promise to pay equal sums of money on or before..... for which we agree to take equal shares of stock in the aforesaid association when organized. This association is organized for the purchase of three or more registered ..... bulls, provided three groups of forty cows each can be secured. The understanding is that these bulls are to be owned in common and changed from group to group every two years, thus providing service for six years."

In the case of the three group association, at the end of two years to avoid in-and-in breeding, the bulls are changed from one group to another and the same thing is done at the end of four years. In this way, barring accident, or loss of bulls by death, the association is provided with registered males for a period of six years at an initial cost of from $10.00 to $40.00 per member. The members in each forty-cow group should be somewhat closely located, but this is not true of the groups, which may be several miles apart, their only connection being an occasional business meeting and the exchange of sires every two years.

This plan has been put in operation in over thirty places in Michigan and is working successfully for the improvement of Michigan livestock. Under this plan there was this year between six and seven thousand common grade cows bred to pure bred sires. The plan has many things to recommend it to the farmer who wishes to improve his live stock: (1) the low initial cost; (2) the advantage of always having a purebred sire available for service; (3) the use of mature sires (4) associations will buy better sires than the average individual; (5) when whole communities are interested in one line of breeding it makes a market for their surplus cattle, because they are grown in sufficient quantities to attract buyers."

KILLED IN FRONT OF HOME

John C. Gunn, Pioneer Farmer, Fails to Hear Whistle.

Mason, Mich., Sept. 27. — John C. Gunn, pioneer farmer of this county and one of the largest and best known peach growers in the state, was struck and instantly killed by a south bound M. U. R. car near Holt in Delphi township.

Gunn, who was sixty years old and quite deaf, was standing upon the track in front of his home waiting for a north-bound car to take him to Lansing when the south-bound car ran into him, knocking him several yards. The motorman says he blew the car whistle but Gunn evidently did not hear it. A widow and one daughter survive.

DEATH WARNING CORRECT

Former Port Huron Man Dies After Making Plans for Funeral.

Port Huron, Mich., Sept. 27.—Having a premonition that his death was soon to occur, James L. Walker, a former resident of this city, sent for Coroner Albert Falk of this city, an intimate friend of his, to come to his home near Camlachie, Ont., for the purpose of making all necessary arrangements for his funeral.

Now Mr. Falk receives word that Mr. Walker has passed away, death having come within a few weeks after he had made the arrangements. The dead selected the cemetery here and named six men of this city whom he wished to act as pallbearers.

FACTORY EMPLOYES PRAY

Religion Forward Wave Spreads Over Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 27.—Three thousand employes in the different factories of this city at noon fell upon their knees during the lunch hour and offered prayers for the success of the men and religion forward movement which was begun here Sunday.

The movement promises to be the largest evangelistical wave the city has ever experienced. Even the employes in the city hall are cutting their noon hour short to offer silent prayers and assist in the religious epoch.

It May Be Worn Either Side Out.

THE NEW BLOUSE.

The very newest idea is a blouse which may be worn outside or inside. This convenient garment, seen in the illustration, is of dark blue satin with white crochet buttons and loops, and the other side is white satin with blue satin buttons and loops. The blue side turns back in revers on the white blouse.

Towels For a Doll House.

Little housekeepers who have dolls' houses either for the paper dolls or for the larger bisque beauties will find it very easy to make sets of towels to go on the doll washstand and in the bathroom. Plain dull white paper may be used for the towels and the borders made of colored crayon. When the ends of the towels are fringed and they are folded and put on the towel rack or across the top of the washstand it is surprising how exactly like towels they look.

If a little housekeeper is ambitious she may make sets of napkins, tablecloths and doilies from the damask paper, which may now be bought and which looks exactly like the real damask. Sheets may be made of the white paper, and counterpanes can have borders of cut work embroidery. This is made by folding the counterpane in four parts and then cutting the pattern through so that it appears uniform on the four parts. Pillows and pillowcases may be made of the paper and the pillowslips decorated with the cutwork.

Beware of Talking Too Much.

It is seldom that a great talker wants enemies; the man of sense speaks little and hears much.

HINTS ABOUT HOME MAKING

An Old Fashioned House Bungalowed And Made Pretty And Livable At Small Cost

Ben and I had boarded since our marriage some three years before, but we never intended to keep to that makeshift sort of living and had been constantly on the lookout for a house that we could buy for a little money. It must be within easy distance of the office, not too large, nor so cramped that it would not answer for a permanent home. We wanted enough land to give us plenty of light and air on all sides, but not so much that we would require a man to care for the place, and above all it must be thoroughly sanitary. We began by looking at new houses, but the ones we liked were always too expensive or too close to the neighboring dwellings, too far out of town, or too far from the station or trolley which amounted to the same thing.

Then a friend suggested buying an old house, and renovating it to our taste, but other people told us that that was usually more expensive than paying considerably more for a new house, so in the end we had to rely upon our own judgment, and the education in home making that we had been gradually acquiring from many sources. Perhaps the most valuable facts were those that fixed in our minds the things to be avoided.

The House.

In our various wanderings in the suburbs we had many times passed an old stone house of the style that prevailed before wooden homes became the fashion, and had admired its simple lines and lovely garden gay with hollyhocks and other old time flowers. An oak of massive girth shaded a tumbledown barn at one side of the place, that would make an excellent chicken-house with a little propping and fixing, but that place was not for sale we heard on making inquiries. Imagine our surprise then when we saw in the dooryard an auction placard and found that after the "vendue" the place was to be sold in the same fashion. We secured the house and much of its furnishings for a very small investment and at once started to make it over on simple bungolow lines which accorded perfectly with the exterior and would fit in exactly with our plan of living. We tore down most of the partitions on the first floor, made the kitchen half its original size, and had a splendid large living room, a small square entrance hall, and a dining room that could be all thrown into one by their wide doorways.

The work was done by local masons and carpenters and was substantial enough but rather rough as to wall finish. The woodwork was good for we had been able to use most of the old trim which was in excellent condition. The cost as managed was small, but unless we had known what our proposed scheme of decoration would accomplish the result in the rough state would have been forbidding.

The house must be thoroughly sanitary and easy to care for. We had determined, so we decided to use washable wall hangings. These would hide any defect in the walls and the lime in the new plastering would not strike through and stain the decoration as with paper hangings used over new walls.

The ceilings throughout the house were covered with the same material in the dull ivory white finish. On the kitchen walls we used a tile pattern, in Delft-blue and white, and had the woodwork painted in white enamel, but left the old oaken doors and floors in their natural color, after they were scraped and cleaned. Our furniture was principally old mahogany so we determined to fit up the living rooms and hall in the soft light grays that go so well with white woodwork and mahogany and form such an excellent background for pictures and china. The hall was in gray burlap, the living room in a grass cloth effect, and the dining room in two-toned figured design—an exact reproduction of an expensive French paper.

Up stairs there were two large bed rooms and one small one. The other small room was turned into a bath room, for we had installed an excellent plumbing and heating plant in the old house. The sleeping rooms we hung in danty plain tints of blue, buff, and gray. The bath room in a tile pattern of swallows, green on a white glazed ground with a green and white linoleum on the floor. The woodwork on this floor was all in white enamel and we planned later to replace the doors with birch, stained to mahogany with glass door knobs, but this like many other plans we had to defer until later. We were ready now for the furnishings.

JEANETTE VAN REYPEN.

MADISON ONE OF ABLEST LAWYERS IN CONGRESS.

He Served In Two Sessions and Was an Active Worker.

Edmond H. Madison, representative in congress from the Seventh Kansas district, who died recently, was one of those who on Sept. 7, 1910, voted for the resolution calling for the removal of Secretary Ballinger from office. He submitted a substitute resolution for that of Senator Fletcher of Florida, in which he declared that the charges made by Gifford Pinchot and Louis Glavis, formerly chief of the field division of the land office, had been sustained.

To this an amendment was offered by Representative James of Kentucky providing for the removal of Secretary Ballinger. Mr. Madison accepted this and voted with the Democratic members of the investigating committee in favor of its adoption. The Republican members held that the vote was not valid because the full committee was not present, and they were then accused of delaying action.

Mr. Madison was born at Plymouth, Ill., in 1865, and went to Kansas twenty years later. He was elected county attorney of Ford county in 1886 and in 1900 became a district judge, which position he resigned in 1906 to become a candidate for congress. He had served in that body ever since. He was a striking figure over the rules fight in the last congress which resulted in the curtailment of the powers of the speaker, and he helped to win the battle for reorganization of the house methods. It was a fight marked by bitterness and parliamentary strategy for majority control in place of so called arbitrary power on the part of the speaker.

Mr. Madison served in two sessions and was an active worker. He was a member of the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee and took great interest in the Philippine administration inquiry by the house insular affairs committee, of which he was also a member. He defended Mr. Roosevelt, then president, in connection with the secret service appropriation controversy. He was also recognized as one of the ablest lawyers in the house.

SAD UNIFORMS FOR FRANCE.

New Cloth Has Been Adopted to Replace Red and Blue.

New, inconspicuous field uniforms have at last been chosen for the French army. Within a year the long blue coats and red trousers, the same which were the targets of the Prussian fire in 1870, will be seen no more.

The cloth of the new uniforms is not khaki. It is against all precedent in France to adopt any idea which has been approved by another nation. The French go on the principle that they can always invent something just as good and entirely different. They have, therefore, after experiments running through several years, chosen a cloth of an indescribable color—a sort of light grenish gray, which is said so to harmonize with the color of field and road as to be practically invisible at long range.

Distinctions of rank will be shown by braids, chevrons and epaulets. Buttons will be in dull gold. Officers will wear the same cloth as the common soldiers. Metal helmets will give place to cloth caps. Such metal ornaments as are retained on the headgear will be replaced by colored cockades in the field. Everything shiny is to be done away with. Even the swords of the officers and the cavalry will be wrapped in such a way that they cannot glisten. Two battalions thus dressed are to make their appearance at the grand military maneuvers on July 14, the national holiday. It is expected that they will be greeted with enthusiasm, for a change in the somewhat garish uniform at present worn has long been desired.

Cleaning Gilt Frames.

Gilt frames should not be washed, merely rubbed with chamois. If dull they should be brushed with a liquid strained from the boiling of four onions in water which has been tinted to a golden color by flowers of sulphur steeped in it.

FREE SAMPLE OF LAXATIVE CURED THEIR CONSTIPATION

When a person has become discouraged through years of failure to find a cure, and finally, perhaps, gives up trying, it is small wonder that he becomes skeptical. And yet, to all who have constipation, we would say, "Try just one thing more."

We wish you would try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a laxative tonic that has been used for a generation. Thousands are using it; surely some of your friends among the number. You can buy it of any druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, but better still, send your name and address to Dr. Caldwell for a free sample bottle. He will send you enough to convince you of its merits, and then if you like it you can buy it of your druggist. Mr. J. J. Petty of Unionville, Mo., Mr. George W. Zimmerman of Harrisburg, Pa. and many others of both sexes and in all parts of the country first used a sample bottle and now have it regularly in the house.

You will learn to do away with salts, waters and cathartics for these are but temporary reliefs while Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is guaranteed to cure permanently. It will train your stomach and bowel muscles so that they will do their work again naturally without outside aid. Cast aside your skepticism and try Syrup Pepsin.

Dr. Caldwell does not feel that the purchase of his remedy ends his obligation. He has specialized in stomach, liver and bowel diseases for over forty years and will be pleased to give the reader any advice on the subject free of charge. All are welcome to write him. Whether for the medical advice or the free sample address him Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 541 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

JOHNSON GREATEST PITCHER.

Catcher Street Says He Is Performing Better Now Than Ever.

"I have been catching Walter Johnson since the day he came out of the woods in Idaho, and you can take it from me he is today a better pitcher than he has been at any other time in his career." Thus spoke Charley Street of the Washington Americans recently. "Walter came in for some pretty hard roasts at the beginning of the season, when he was not himself. He was suffering from an attack of malaria that was enough to take the sap out of any one, but he has rounded to, and now he is ready to stop any team that he faces. You know he always had speed and control, and every day since he has been in the league he learned more about the batters until today he stands ahead of all of them. Give Johnson an average of three games a week and he will make one of the greatest records in history."

KUTINA IS WHITE HOPE.

St. Louis Browns' First Sacker Is Also Wrestler and Neighbor of Gotch.

Kutina, the former Saginaw first baseman, who is now holding down the initial sack for the St. Louis Browns, is a wrestling partner of Frank Gotch during the winter months. Kutina owns a farm adjoining the Gotch estate near Humboldt, Ia., and the ball player and wrestler are great friends.

Kutina is also a boxer of local fame in his home district. He is big enough to go for heavyweight honors, and it may be that some time he will be the hope of the Caucasians.

DON'T PULL OUT THE GRAY HAIRS

A FEW APPLICATIONS OF A SIMPLE REMEDY WILL BRING BACK THE NATURAL COLOR.

"Pull out one gray hair and a dozen will take its place" is an old saying, which is, to a great extent, true, if no steps are taken to stop the cause. When gray hairs appear it is a sign that Nature needs assistance. It is Nature's call for help. Gray hair, dull, lifeless hair, or hair that is falling out, is not necessarily a sign of advancing age, for there are thousands of elderly people with perfect heads of hair without a single streak of gray.

When gray hairs come, or when the hair seems to be lifeless or dead, some good, reliable hair-restoring treatment should be resorted to at once. Specialists say that one of the best preparations to use is the old-fashioned "sage tea" which our grandparents used. The best preparation of this kind is Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a preparation of domestic sage and sulphur, scientifically compounded with later discovered hair tonics and stimulants, the whole mixture being carefully balanced and tested by experts.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is clean and wholesome and perfectly harmless. It refreshes dry, parched hair, removes dandruff and gradually restores faded or gray hair to its natural color.

Don't delay another minute. Start using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur at once and see what a difference a few days' treatment will make in your hair.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special agent, Weinmann-Matthews Co., 118 Congress street.

THAT AWFUL BACKACHE

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Morton's Gap, Kentucky.—"I suffered two years with female disorders, my health was very bad and I had a continual backache which was simply awful. I could not stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal's victuals without my back nearly killing me, and I would have such dragging sensations I could hardly bear it. I had soreness in each side, could not stand tight clothing, and was irregular. I was completely run down. On advice I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills and am enjoying good health. It is now more than two years and I have not had an ache or pain since I do all my own work, washing and everything, and never have the backache any more. I think your medicine is grand and I praise it to all my neighbors. If you think my testimony will help others you may publish it."—Mrs. OLLIE WOODALL, Morton's Gap, Kentucky.

Backache is a symptom of organic weaknes; or derangement. If you have backache don't neglect it. To get permanent relielf you must reach the root of the trouble. Nothing we know of will do this so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

Write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., for special advice. Your letter will be absolutely confidential, and the advice free.
